Army-Navy Interference Festering Sore Spot in State Department

WASHINGTON—Testimony by two high-ranking army officers of plans for fortifications near Canada revealed a significant sore spot which has been festering inside the Administration for many months.

Fact is that more than at any other recent period, the Army and Navy are intruding on the State Department's prerogative of directing the foreign policy of the United States.

Time after time, the State Department has outlined a policy only to have it blasted by Army and Navy spurs-janglers who have taken their story direct to the White House.

This was the case when Hitler threw overboard the armament provisions of the Versailles Treaty. Secretary Hull and Norman Davis had written a note to be sent to Germany.

General MacArthur trotted over to the White House and their missive was thrown out.

It was also the case in the negotiation of a new treaty with Panama. Assistant Secretary Sumner Welles got an advance O. K. from the White House for certain treaty revisions.

Following this, the Army General Staff hammered at the White House to reverse Welles.

Finally it was the case in last week's blow-up over an air base near Canada. Just at the time testimony by Brigadier-General Charles E. Kilbourne was made public showing that he had inserted a "camouflaged" air base in the Air Base Bill. Under Secretary of State Phillips was dedicating a monument to the treaty whereby the 3,000 miles of Canadian boundary have remained unfortified for 100 years.

General Kilbourne is not an irresponsible officer. At the time he gave his testimony, he was assistant chief of staff in charge of War Plans.

Although his views were denounced by the President, F. D. R. gave an even severer spanking to the Military Affairs Committee for making public the testimony.

So what the diplomats—including Canadians—are asking privately is this: "If the Committee had not published the testimony, would not the Army have got away with its camouflaged air base?"

Certainly whenever the Army and the State Department have locked horns in the past without publicity—the Army has won.

New Gentleman

Dour-visaged Senator Josiah Bailey of North Carolina was seated at dinner beside California's anti-Representative Florence Kahn.

She has been in Congress twelve years, Bailey less than half that time. Nevertheless he was expounding vehemently his anti-feminist views.

Pudgy Senator Dan Hastings, Delaware Republican, sat on the other side of Mrs. Kahn, tried to rescue her from the tirade.

"Have you read Senator Bailey's speech on the anti-lynching bill?" he asked.

"Of course she hasn't read it," interrupted the Senator, from North Carolina. "And she wouldn't have understood it if she had."

"Senator," replied Mrs. Kahn, "you remind me of a gentleman—one who takes off his hat before he kicks a lady."

INCOME TAXES NEAR BALLOT IN ASSEMBLY

Ward's $20,000,000 Measure on Docket for Vote this Afternoon

SENATE IS ADAMANT

Diebel Backs Move to Force Action

COLUMBUS, May 7.—Conceded almost no chance of being written into the Ohio statutes before the Fall special session, the $20,000,000 Ward state income tax bill neared a vote in the house of representatives today.

Opposition in the House, where it was taken up as a special order of business at 2 p. m., was pronounced but a canvass of the membership indicated adoption of the measure after another determined effort to shelve it.

With the Senate still refusing to resume business until the House passes the biennial appropriations bill which will not be before next week, chances of the upper branch adopting the income tax, even if passed by the House, were negligible.

Doesn't Take Orders

Rep. Edmund H. Diebel (R) Medina, led a movement in the House to force the Senate to terminate its long recess at once and act upon bills already passed by the House, but the Senate has never before shown a disposition to take orders from the other branch.

A resolution calling upon the Senate to fulfill its constitutional duty was introduced.

CLEVELANDER TAKES OFFICE ON WEDNESDAY

Local Man Blames Friction of Cash Relief for Stillman's Action

THANKS OFFICIALS

No Other Office Changes Anticipated

Howard S. Irwin, relief director for Pickaway-co for the past 10 months announced today that he has been discharged by C. C. Stillman, federal relief administrator, to become effective Wednesday, May 8.

Mr. Irwin will be succeeded by Winfred L. Utley, of Cleveland, who will take over the office Wednesday morning.

It was not learned whether there would be any other changes in the administrative offices.

Mr. Irwin has been serving as relief director after his endorsement by the county commissioners. He was formally appointed by Major E. O. Braught, who has since resigned as relief chief for the state.

Worked in Cuyahoga-co.

Mr. Utley has been connected with the Cuyahoga-co relief office having served as a case worker and engineer of public works projects.

Mr. Irwin said that a case work department inquiry of members of relief families, especially the women, developed that the majority of those interviewed were in favor of grocery and other orders of this type which go directly into the home to provide the necessities of life, such as food, fuel, medical attention, clothing, etc. "The case work department reported," Mr. Irwin states, "that the women folks in relief homes were afraid that if relief was distributed in cash it would be expended for other articles than family necessities."

Offers No Excuses

"I have no excuses to offer for any act performed by me as director," Mr. Irwin continued, "and desire to thank all local persons and organizations for their fine co-operation, especially the commissioners and the city officials."

Pickaway-co's May allotment of funds speaks for itself, the retiring director said, as an indication of how the local relief administration was directed to use the allotted funds, $10,474 for direct relief and $2,557 for work relief.

Local Man Blames Friction of Cash Relief for Stillman's Action

THANKS OFFICIALS

No Other Office Changes Anticipated

Howard S. Irwin, relief director for Pickaway-co for the past 10 months announced today that he has been discharged by C. C. Stillman, federal relief administrator, to become effective Wednesday, May 8.

Mr. Irwin will be succeeded by Winfred L. Utley, of Cleveland, who will take over the office Wednesday morning.

It was not learned whether there would be any other changes in the administrative offices.

Mr. Irwin has been serving as relief director after his endorsement by the county commissioners. He was formally appointed by Major E. O. Braught, who has since resigned as relief chief for the state.

Worked In Cuyahoga-co.

Mr. Utley has been connected with the Cuyahoga-co relief office having served as a case worker and engineer of public works projects.

Mr. Irwin said that a case work department inquiry of members of relief families, especially the women, developed that the majority of those interviewed were in favor of grocery and other orders of this type which go directly into the home to provide the necessities of life, such as food, fuel, medical attention, clothing, etc. "The case work department reported," Mr. Irwin states, "that the women folks in relief homes were afraid that if relief was distributed in cash it would be expended for other articles than family necessities."

Offers No Excuses

"I have no excuses to offer for any act performed by me as director," Mr. Irwin continued, "and desire to thank all local persons and organizations for their fine co-operation, especially the commissioners and the city officials."

Pickaway-co's May allotment of funds speaks for itself, the retiring director said, as an indication of how the local relief administration was directed to use the allotted funds, $10,474 for direct relief and $2,557 for work relief.

AGED LAURELVILLE WOMAN IS CALLED

Mrs. Maggie E. Hoey, 85, died Monday afternoon at her home in Laurelville of a stroke she suffered last Saturday. She was the wife of Stacey Hoey.

Besides the husband, a daughter Mrs. Glenn Swackhammer and a grandson, survive.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Mt. Carmel church with interment in the adjoining cemetery by H. E. Defenbaugh and Son. Rev. S. C. Elsea of Tarlton will officiate.

STEBELTON HEADS TOWNSHIP SCHOOL

Russell Stebelton, of Lithopolis, has been elected superintendent of the Muhlenberg-twp school succeeding L. C. Pinkerton.

Stebelton is a former principal at Muhlenberg.

Miss Annabelle Barch, a teacher in the Wayne-twp school for the past several years, has been hired to teach the third and fourth grades at Muhlenberg. Miss Barch was not an applicant at Wayne this year.

SENATE PREPARES TO VOTE VINSON BONUS MEASURE

WIRE PLEAS ARE IGNORED

65,000 Messages Received; Believe Harrison Compromise Is Discarded

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Apparently unaffected by 65,000 telegraphic appeals for passage of the Patman soldiers bonus bill, the senate today appeared headed toward enactment of the Vinson payment plan.

Endorsed by the American Legion, the Vinson bill differed from the Patman bill chiefly in that it provided no method for raising the money to pay off the World War veterans. The Patman bill, as passed by the house, would have the treasury issue new currency. Under the Vinson bill, the cost must be borne by a bond issue or by increased taxation.

Ignore Compromise
The senate seemed to be flying in the face of a presidential veto. It apparently has decided to discard the Harrison compromise, which was reported acceptable to Mr. Roosevelt.

The first test vote will come on a choice between the Vinson and Harrison bills. After that, the parliamentary situation will produce a choice between the victor of the Vinson-Harrison test and the Patman bill.

Advocates of the Vinson and Patman plans are ready to bury their own differences in order to "gang" the Harrison compromise. This virtually assured defeat of the plan brought forward by presidential advisers to solve the bonus question.

The Harrison plan would give the veteran a choice of benefits. The holder of a $1,000 unencumbered certificate would get $700 by cashing it in at once, $825 by

WESTERN FARMERS LOOK FOR PASTURE

Owing to the poor condition of pastures in some areas of the West, particularly in parts of Kansas, Nebraska, and Colorado, farmers there are in search of eastern pasture lands that can be rented in order to carry some of their cattle. They are looking as far east as Ohio.

L. P. McCann of the department of animal husbandry, the Ohio State University, Columbus, has been asked to assist in locating such pastures in Ohio. He asks farmers who have more pasture than they need, and who may wish to rent some of it, to notify his office.

McCann believes there is a limited amount of available pasture in parts of eastern and southern Ohio.

An additional allotment of $600,000 has been made to the state of Ohio for the eradication of Bang's disease. This brings the total of Ohio's allotment from the U. S. Department of Agriculture to $1,700,000.

holding it until 1942 and $1,115 by holding it until it otherwise would have matured in 1945.

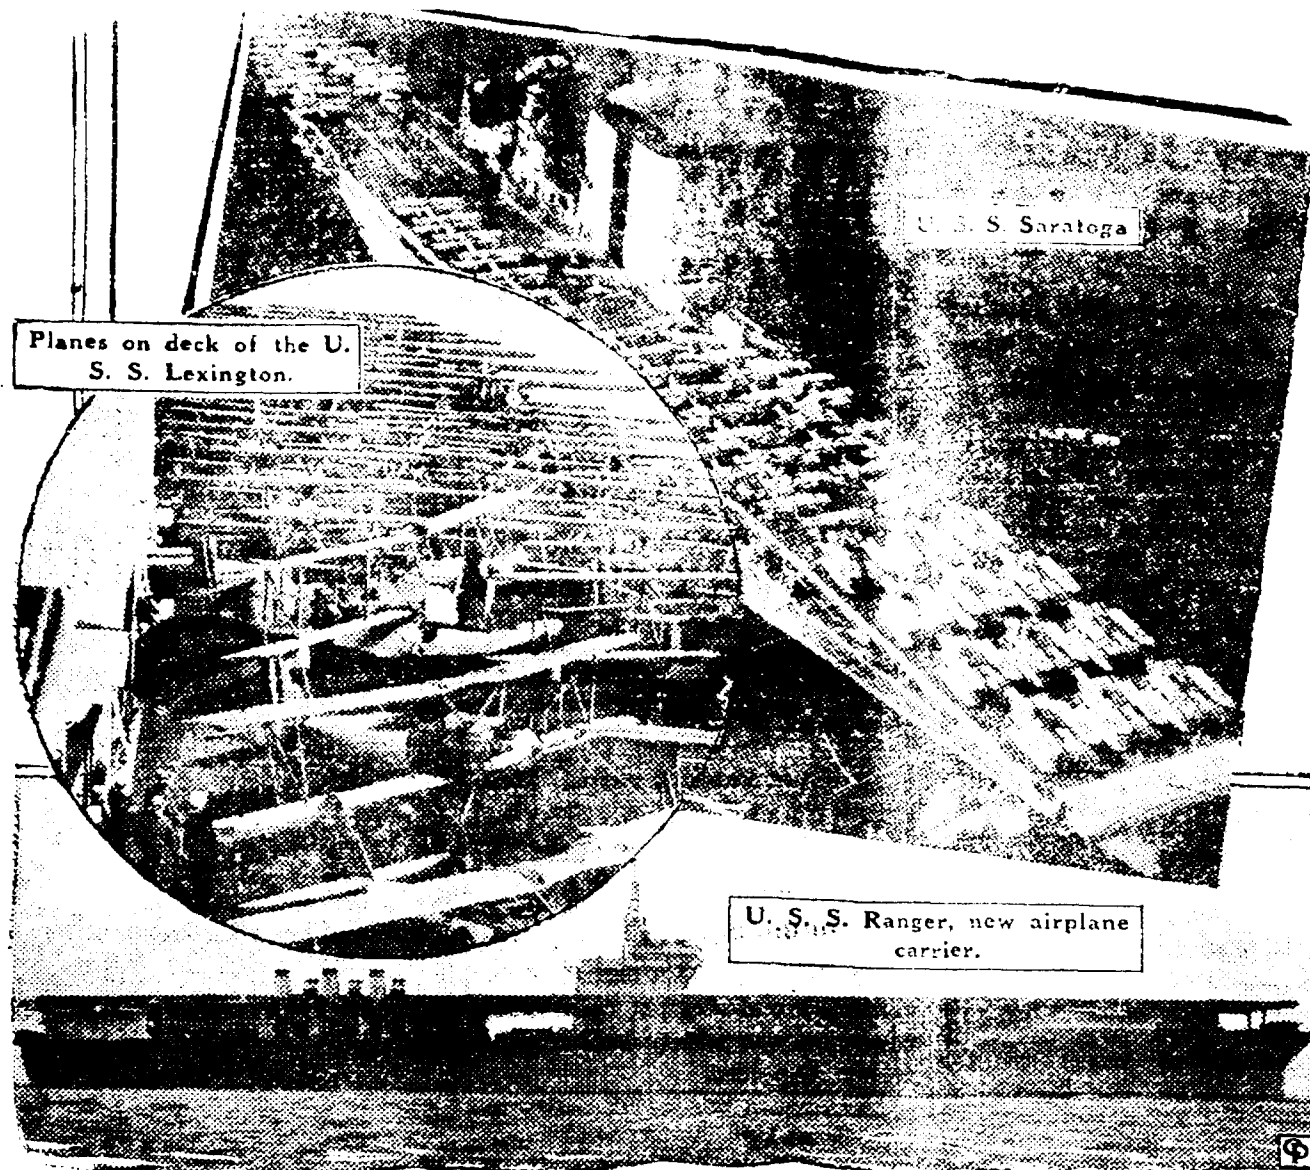

The Patman and Vinson plans would pay the same veteran $1,000 in cash immediately.

The holders of a $1,000 certificate, who had borrowed $500 on it, would get only $210 immediately under Harrison's plan, $487 under Patman's bill and $500 under Vinson's plan. Under the Harrison plan, the veteran would get slightly more by holding on to his certificate.

The Harrison plan was supported by the administration because its estimated cost to the government would be about one billion dollars less than either of the other two. Treasury estimates placed the costs at: Harrison, $1,289,600,000; Patman, $2,201,934,000 and Vinson, $2,263,545,000.

World's Largest Naval Air Force Undergoes First Test in War Games

Airplane Carrier Ranger Is Vital Unit of U. S. Fleet and 477 Planes Now in Pacific

SAN PEDRO, Cal.—With the United States fleet far out at sea, there to hold its annual war games, the world's largest naval air force is undergoing its first extensive practical test during the most extensive peacetime maneuvers in history.

One ship—the U. S. S. Ranger—gives the battle force its pre-eminence in the air. Not alone, of course, but in combination with three other carriers and the various battle units of the fleet carrying planes.

The Ranger is the first carrier to be laid down and built by the United States as a carrier. The Langley, now 23 years old, once was the collier Jupiter. The Saratoga and Lexington were laid down as battle cruisers.

Four Types of Planes

Hiding many military secrets, the Ranger brings to the fleet 79 effective fighting planes of four classes—fighting, scouting, bombing and torpedo. This lifts the total number of land planes based aboard the carriers to 271, all available within a few minutes to repulse an enemy fighting force, to scout for an enemy fleet, to bomb enemy strongholds or direct torpedoes at enemy capital ships.

But 271 does not represent the total strength. Add to this the observations and spotting planes—fast two-seaters—riding with battleships and cruisers and giant flying boats which take off from and land on the sea, and Uncle Sam's fleet permits her to discharge her planes, all now on the high seas with the fleet and all capable of performing some vital military function.

Much Secrecy

The navy has said little about its plans for the 1935 maneuvers. That they will see the fleet in operation from California to the waters off Alaska down to Hawaii and back to southern California is known. Exactly what problems are being studied has not been divulged.

The Ranger was rushed to the west coast immediately after her trial runs in the Atlantic and joined up with the fleet at San Diego. Admiral J. M. Reeves, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, once was "commander of the air squadrons." He, perhaps more than any other member of the navy's high command, is convinced of the potency of a strong air force.

Regardless of details involved in "battle problems" to be worked out in the north Pacific, presence of the Ranger, whose 769-foot flight deck permits her to discharge her planes into the air with great speed, adds far more to the fleet's effectiveness than 79 planes.

Carriers Have Speed

It means the Langley, capable of a speed of some 15 miles an hour, can be held in the rear as a reserve, while the Saratoga, Lexington and Ranger lead ahead with their roaring broods more than twice that fast. Fact is, these three large carriers can outspeed any other naval vessels afloat, permitting them to escape an enemy threat simply by turning on the steam.

The future of America's "air power at sea" seems assured. It is expected the Langley will be retired in two years, but at that time the Enterprise and Yorktown, 20,000-ton carriers will join the fleet. The navy then will have a quintet of carriers which can send skyward in an hour or so 395 airplanes—a force of fighters carrying great power.

THREE MOVES MADE TO LET MOONEY FREE

Merriam Promises to Consider Request to Commute
Sentences

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7—Three movements were afoot today to provide freedom this year for Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings. The pair have been in prison for nearly 19 years following their conviction for participation in the 1916 Preparedness day bombing in which ten persons died. Those who have battled consistently for Mooney's freedom believe chances for final action on the celebrated case are the best they ever have been.

The three movements to free Mooney and Billings are:

1. A state campaign to urge that Governor Merriam commute their sentences. The governor has promised to give consideration to the request.

2. A movement in Washington, D. C., to interest the president in the case and to call upon him to persuade Governor Merriam to pardon them.

3. A petition for a writ of habeas corpus (for Mooney alone) is on file in the state district court of appeals which may eventually find its way to the United States supreme court.

Numerous senators and representatives in Washington have written to President Roosevelt asking him to urge Mooney's and Billings' pardon by Governor Merriam, while in the state capitol the assembly passed a resolution calling on the governor to terminate the life sentences of Mooney and Billings.

Mooney's attorneys expect to take their petition for the writ to the supreme court in the event he state court refuse to intervene and the high court has indicated it will entertain the petition if it arrives via state courts.

MIAMI, Fla., May 7—Mrs. Morrison Orr of Piqua, Ohio, today charged Mrs. Dorothy Clark of New York, with "wrongfully, wickedly, unjustly and maliciously" winning the affections of her husband, a wealthy Ohio manufacturer, in a suit asking $1,000,000 damages.

The charges were made in a bill of particulars filed in one of three suits, each asking for $1,000,000, brought March 25 by Mrs. Orr, who asked "both compensatory and exemplary" damages because "her physical and nervous system has been wrecked" and she "has been degraded among her acquaintances." Preliminary papers have only been filed in the other two suits.

Mrs. Orr asserted Mrs. Clark "persuaded, enticed and abducted her husband, causing him to leave her in October, 1934, in Chicago. She also charged Orr had lived at Mrs. Clark's residence at Miami, although he has a home nearby.

WINGS GONE,

Lee Gerlach, Noted Aviator, Lands On Farm Near Ravenna After Escape

RAVENNA, May 7— "When I opened my eyes and looked around I found I had no wings. There was nothing to do but jump so I jumped."

With those few words, Lee Gerlach, America's No. 1 test pilot, today laconically passed off his narrow escape from death yesterday while putting a new airplane "through its paces."

Gehlbach took the plane, a large, grey whip, two miles up in the air yesterday afternoon above the farm of Archie Morgan, three miles southeast of Edinburg, O., near here.

He headed the plane earthward in a shrieking power dive. The air speed indicator mounted to 200 miles an hour, to 250 miles an hour.

When the plane reached 8,000 feet, Gehlbach said, he pulled back on the stick to come out of the dive. The plane lurched slightly and the pilot's head came in contact with the windshield, momentarily stunning him.

It was a moment later that he "opened my eyes and found I had no wings."

Steven Rebec, a farmer standing on the ground, said he happened to look skyward and saw a parachute floating toward him. The chute landed in a clump of trees, leaving Gehlbach dangling with his toes barely touching the ground.

Rebec helped the pilot out of his harness and took him to a telephone. Gehlbach called the Great Lakes Aircraft Corp. at Cleveland and told them the experimental type torpedo plane which the company was to submit to the navy had gone to pieces during the test flight.

Gehlbach was treated for a scalp wound and a deep cut on his hip by a Ravenna physician.

There will be a Nation-wide ceremony in which President Roosevelt will be asked to take part.

Suitable ceremonies will be arranged as a part of a national program which will be accompanied by nation-wide publicity through the press the radio and other mediums.

Chairman Tom O. Gilliland, of the Better Housing committee, is working on the details and will make the information public as soon as the plans are complete.

General reports indicate that business, particularly in the building industry, is much better this spring than for the same period last year.

TELL RESULTS OF
CORN YIELD TEST

For the past 29 years the corn on a 45-acre rotation area at the Experiment Farm at Wooster has averaged 73.6 bushels an acre. And the cash outlay was only $3.50 an acre each year.

In commenting on this achievement with the land, R. D. Lewis, extension agronomist for the Ohio State University, said the soil was no better, probably even poorer, than in the average Ohio field. The weather was no more favorable. Therefore, he concludes, this yield, which is almost twice that from the average field, must be due to things man has done.

And this, according to Lewis, is what he did:

"He gave the crop a good start. He first so treated that soil that he could grow regular and abundant crops of clovers and later of clover and alfalfa mixtures. He plowed the land early, and prepared a good seedbed in which was stored water for use in the critical months of July and August."

"He used seed of the best local varieties selected for its vigor in germinating and its relative freedom from disease, and not primarily for the characteristics of beauty that have been over-emphasized in some corn-showings."

"He planted early and at a rate comparable with the expected yield."

"And finally, he controlled the weeds by timely but not excessive cultivation."

Standard Oil announces a motor fuel of Tomorrow

At the familiar SOHIO sign, motorists are at this moment securing tankfuls of a new motor fuel which we know to be superior to any "regular" priced gasoline previously made by us.

We would be justified in calling this gasoline a "1936 model" for it sets a new standard for motor fuel.

A chemist, analyzing this new X-70, would find it unique among today's gasolines in a distillation range that provides greater usable energy.

A motorist testing his first tankful of the new X-70, will find this extra energy demonstrated by more miles-per-gallon and a consequent lowering of his customary driving costs. In giving you this longer mileage we have not sacrificed any of the other qualities which have made SOHIO X-70 the favorite gasoline of Ohio motorists. On the contrary, these qualities have been improved and you will secure swifter pick-up, higher cruising speed on the open road, easier hill climbing.

While this gasoline is brand new to you, it is nearly a year old to us for we have been making it, experimentally, for many months at one of the SOHIO refineries. This experimental gasoline has met the most practical and painstaking tests which amply warranted the installation of the new distillation equipment at all of the SOHIO refineries.

With no fear of the outcome, we invite you to confirm, in your own car, the improved performance and money-saving quality of new SOHIO X-70.

Technically Speaking—

The flashing performance of modern motor cars would not have been possible without the accompanying improvement in motor fuels over the past few years.

While these improvements in gasoline have made vast contributions to automobile performance, they have been accompanied, by and large, by sacrifice of gasoline mileage.

Gasoline, as contained in crude oil, has several distinct component parts or zones, each of which has distinct qualities which are necessary and valuable in varying proportions for the best operation of a motor. These component parts, however, are not naturally in proper proportion for most efficient use in an internal combustion engine. In the effort to increase in a motor fuel the proportions of the component parts representing anti-knock, volatility, and acceleration, sacrifice has generally been made of heavier molecules which represent mileage and hill climbing power.

By a new process of fractionation selection this company now withdraws from the gasoline an intermediate part which is cracked and made more volatile and then reinserted into the gasoline. This makes it possible also to reinsert into the gasoline a larger part of the heavier molecules representing mileage and power than could otherwise be included in a modern gasoline.

Cummings Defies Jinxes In Decoration Day Races

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 7.—Wild Bill Cummings, who defied all jinxes to win last year's 500-mile race here is playing the "numbers" again.

Last year Bill carried No. 7, allotted to him to correspond with his national championship standing. The number had never won a race before at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. He deliberately waited until April 7 to enter his car—just to make sure he had a good hold on the "seven jinx." But he stopped waiting on Decoration Day and was No. 1 car over the finish line.

The "rail birds" who line the pit walls and rule the boys out before the race starts, said that Cummings was loaded down with fatal Omens. First, there was No. 7 which never had and never would win a race. Then Bill took a woman reporter for a ride around the Speedway, the first time a woman ever had ridden on the bricks. The boys said that this was like looking for a gasoline leak with a blow torch. And then there was the general, Chicago Sportsman, Mike Boyle, who owned Bill's car—the very epitome of hard luck. He had poured a fortune into fine race cars without getting a break.

Just how Bill Cummings stood off these hard luck signs to become the ace "jinx buster" of the track is history now, but Bill thinks the system is good enough to try again. He will be up on No. 1, this year, May 30, as the champion all-ways rates this number, so Bill entered on April 1—"All Fools Day"—at that.

The boys who know all the answers here are not so ready to pin any medals on Bill for taking a fall out of seven—but if he succeeds with No. 1, it is not likely that anyone will deny that Bill has "hexed" bad luck from stem to stern. Only Tommy Milton, who earned No. 1 in 1923 as the National automobile racing champion, was able to make the single digit over the finish line a winner.

No. 1 has finished in the money seven times in 22 years, making its best showing in second place in 1916, 1925 and 1929. It was fourth in 1930; seventh in 1915 and eighth in 1922.

WEATHER MAN 'TOPS' IN TWO MAJOR LOOPS

Charlie Grimm Says Double Headers Piling Up to Give Cubs An Edge

NEW YORK, May 7—The weather man may have more than his usual say as to where the major league pennants shall fly this year.

He's the man who sends cold and rainy days, causes headaches at the box offices, makes pitching problems for club managers and doubleheaders for discontented ball players.

He has no official say in baseball and yet he has more power over ball clubs than Judge Landis. He's the man Charley Grimm, happy minstrel of the Cubs, is depending upon to land a pennant for Chicago in the National league.

He's Charley's special little pal—says Charley—and the enemy of the Cardinals, Pirates and Giants.

Double Bills Start

He's the reason why the Giants and Cubs are going to usher in the first of the Giants' eight already scheduled doubleheaders today and the reason why six other major league games were washed or frozen out yesterday.

"He's the tops," said Charley happily today. "Every time he forces a doubleheader he plays right into my hands for I have that all important fifth starting pitcher when the going gets tough and that's more than the others can say."

"The Giants have four fine pitchers but what are they going to use for a fifth to take the strain off those double bills? The Pirates were lucky to pick up a swell young pitcher like Blanton but they're in the same boat with the Giants. And the Cards not only need a fifth starter, but they've got to find a fourth somewhere. After you get rid of the Deans and Bill Walker, the rest of them are soft."

Lee One Of Five

"But me—I'm sitting pretty with French, Carleton, Lee, Warneke and Henshaw. Every time it rains now I laugh right out loud."

The "Pirate-Braves game—the only one in the National league yesterday—served to illustrate Charley's meaning. The Pirates were forced to use three of their starting pitchers to gain an 8-6 decision over the Braves.

"That's okay now," said Charley "but how would it be if the Pirates had two or three double headers coming up in the next few days?"

BEULAH READY FOR INAUGURAL

COLUMBUS, May 7—Expecting a large field of capable horses for the inaugural Handicap, officials of the Beulah Park Jockey club today were making final preparations for the opening of the 19-day meeting next Saturday.

With all of the 600 stalls occupied, officials of the track were intending upon erecting large tents in which to accompany late arrivals at the Grove City plant.

INDIANS BEHIND

CLEVELAND, May 7—For the second time this season, Cleveland's Indians today found themselves out of first place in the American league pennant race.

Aided by the Boston Red Sox, Fritz Ostermueller, a left-handed fellow who pitches, set the Indians down 2 to 1 at league park yesterday afternoon. Cleveland's loss and the idleness of Chicago put the White Sox in first place, a full game ahead of the Tribe.

BIRDS LOSE FIVE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 7—Using a revamped lineup in an attempt to break their losing streak which has reached five straight games, the Columbus Red Birds face the Minneapolis Millers in today's contest confident they will halt their rapid descent.

The Kels turned yesterday's contest into a near rout by scoring in every inning but the seventh and walking off with a 12 to 8 verdict over the Birds.

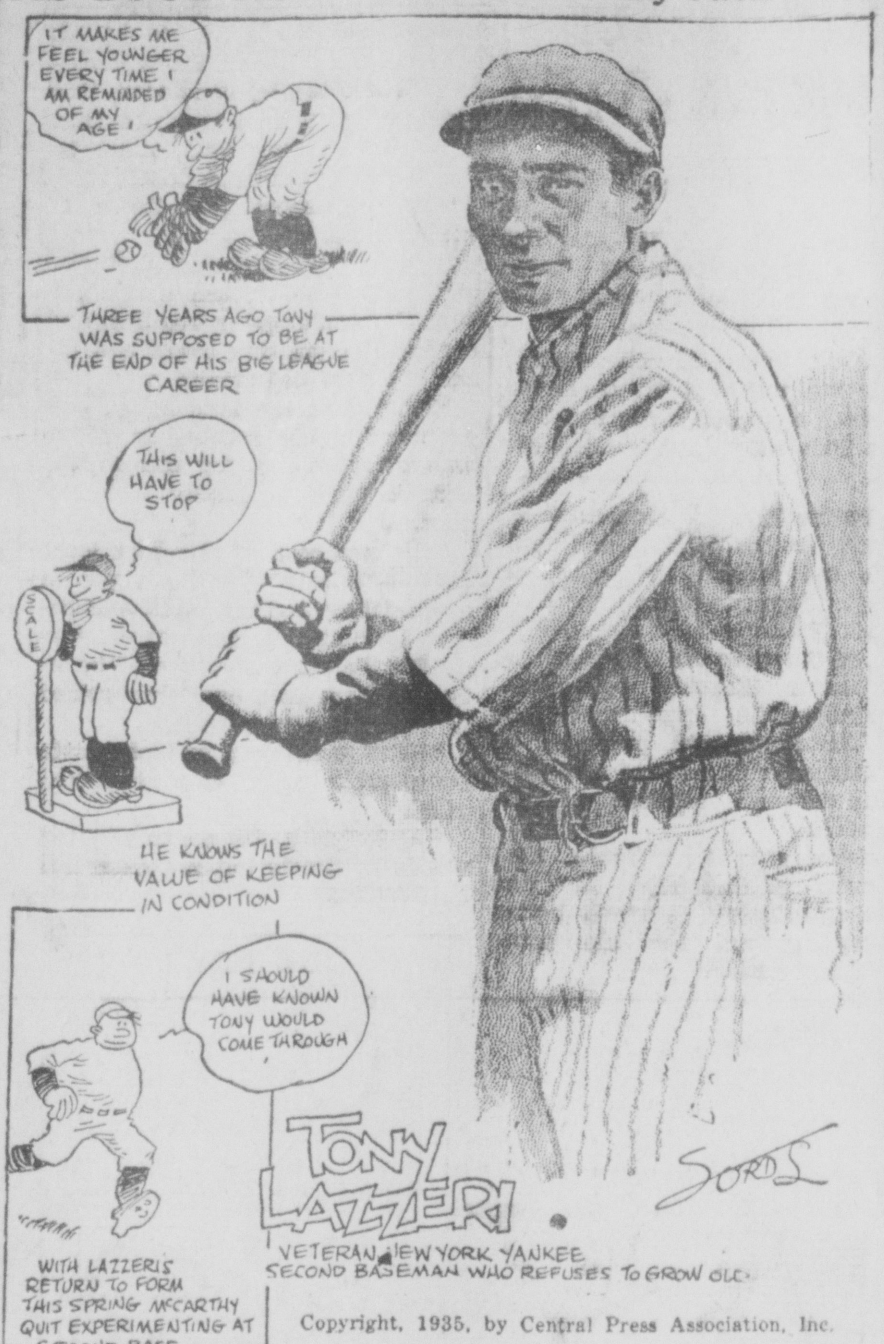

BIRDS ON TIME

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Cal.—Swallows kept their 68th "date" with historic old San Juan Capistrano mission here. Promptly on St. Joseph's day they arrived, drove off the "swifts" another feathery tribe, and prepared to remain until San Juan's day, Oct. 23, when they'll depart for climates even warmer than that in southern California. The swallows have been doing it for 68 years, mission records reveal.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Schools In Track Meet

Track and field squads of Circleville high school and of all the Pickaway-co schools will swing into action-weather permitting-Friday with the former aggregation going to Delaware to take part in the Central Buckeye league meet and the latter teams tangling at New Holland in the annual county field day.

Up To Few Athletes

The Tiger's hope to cop the CBL is rather slim but several of its athletes are expected to make good showings. They include Griffith and Jenkins, who have knocked off firsts in two events in both meets in which the Tigers have engaged. Coleman, who is expected to have a reversal of form to place near the top in the 100 and 220; Friley in the mile and Grant in the pole vault—The Tiger chances to take any top places in the field contests are rather slim—Coach Pete Herberholz has been spending a lot of time with potential field event candidates but none of the boys in the school seem to have the knack of tossing the javelin or the discus.

Saunders Men Favored

New Holland is given the nod in the county meet which was postponed from last Friday—The boys coached by Shadel Saunders boast real versatility and led by lanky Ev Landman should have little trouble piling up enough points to cop the title.

Help To Come Soon

If the Red Birds lose about three more games you can see the Cardinal fathers start shifting ball players—At the outset of the season followers of the Birds remarked concerning the speed of the rookie athletes—It must always be remembered that in order to show speed the rookie must first get on base—The pitching staff seems in need of immediate bolstering.

Connie In Statement

Connie Mach isn't a bit backward. He says five teams are in the American league flag race but his Athletics are not one of them—He rates Cleveland first, then New York, Detroit, Chicago and Boston—He says he even hates to leave St. Louis out.

THREE JAILED AS U. S. RAPS MAIL "CHAIN"

Denver Men Deny Racketeering Charges In Federal Court; Had $1 Chain

DENVER, May 7.—Three Denver men were under arrest today as the federal government continued its drive to eliminate racketeers from the chain-letter game.

Postoffice Inspector Roy E. Nelson declared that R. M. Barnholt, vice president of an oil company; H. L. Harris, a mining promoter; and Edward W. Hughes, employee of a packing company, had mailed 1,200 letters starting $1 chains. They were arraigned before United States Commissioner Leo J. Crowley, pleaded not guilty.

The letters sent out by the three men under arrest allegedly bore names of themselves and relatives. They were mailed to addresses on mailing lists of Barnholt's company and were sent as third class mail, for a cent and a half apiece. Potential returns would have been $1,750,000, according to the face of the letters. Postal officials said that an actual return of about $750,000 could have been expected, on the basis of returns from similar chains.

"We weren't conducting a racket," Barnholt told Crowley. "We were merely doing what thousands of others are doing."

In the meantime, the number of letters being mailed in Denver showed a steady decline, while incoming mail reached the highest peak since the fad began.

Business concerns of various sorts sought to cash in on the craze, promoting formation of chains for the sale of theatre tickets and merchandise.

4 BURN TO DEATH IN BOSTON BLAZE

BOSTON, May 7.—Three women and a girl were burned to death today when fire of undetermined origin swept the Marlborough street home of John Lavallo, Boston artist.

The victims were:
Mrs. Alice C. Lavallo, 60, mother of the artist.

Alice Lavallo, 14, his daughter.
Mary Dolan, 28, and Kathleen Costello, 24, maid servants.

Two other daughters, Elaine, 6, and Mary 11, were seriously burned and John Lavallo, III, 12, his son, also was injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavallo, first thought to have been victims in blaze, were away from home. Mrs. Lavallo was in Cincinnati and Lavallo was in New York.

Loss was estimated at $25,000.

Wagner Labor Disputes Bill. For weeks the measure had lain dormant in the committee. Extended hearings on it had been held, but Massachusetts' paunchy Chairman David Ignatius Walsh gave no sign of doing anything about it.

Then the A. F. of L. got busy. From Massachusetts were summoned a number of potent state labor chieftains, including representatives of textile and hosiery unions. Their members ran into the tens of thousands.

These home-state folks were turned loose on David Ignatius. Singly and in groups they dogged his footsteps, butt-holing him in his office and in the Capitol corridors to demand action on the Wagner Bill.

After a week of this direct pressure Walsh capitulated.

He convened his committee and the bill was favorably reported to the Senate. Furthermore, it was sent on its way without being weakened as was the case when the measure emerged from the committee last year.

As a result of Walsh's "conversion," the bill has a better than even chance of becoming law.

Black vs. White

During the anti-lynching debate, youngish Senator Black of Alabama thundered at seasoned Senator Costigan of Colorado:

"I understand that this bill, Senator, was written by a Negro—the head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People!"

Senator Costigan evaded an answer.

But if Black had known it, he was looking—as he spoke—directly at the Negro to whom he referred. He is Walter White, head of the N. A. A. C. P., and the real author of the Costigan-Wagner Lynching Bill. He sat in the Senate gallery listening to Black.

White conceived the bill two years ago, sold the idea to Costigan and Wagner. Later he sold it to Mrs. Roosevelt and through her to the President.

All during the anti-lynching filibuster, White camped in Washington, had frequent conferences with Mrs. Roosevelt, caused thousands of telegrams to be sent to Senators from all over the country, played an important part in directing the fight from the side-lines.

White is considered the most fearless leader of his race.

Merry-Go-Round

The NRA may be looking for another chief of the Research and Planning Division if Leon Henderson, present chief, can scrape up $12,000. He wants the money to stage an expedition to Ecuador, where he hopes to find a lot more money in the form of placer gold.

WOMAN FIFTH PLANE VICTIM

Mrs. Kaplan, Wife of Paramount Executive, Dies; Two Others Serious

MACON, Mo., May 7.—Mrs. William Kaplan, wife of a Hollywood motion picture executive, today became the fifth fatality in the crash of a night flying TWA airliner that snuffed out the life of United States Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico in a fog-shrouded farm pasture.

Eight other survivors, two in critical condition, were suffering from injuries today as a coroner's jury, aided by federal inspectors, called its second hearing in the investigation, which thus far had produced testimony showing the plane had nearly exhausted its gasoline supply when the crash occurred.

Mrs. Kaplan, her back fractured, succumbed here early today in a hospital where she was brought with other victims of the crash. She and Kaplan, assistant producer for Paramount studios, were members of a party of film technicians enroute to Annapolis, Md., to film sequences at the naval academy.

Although an auxiliary tank still held 30 gallons of gasoline, witnesses told the coroner's jury last night, the fog-enveloped Douglas liner's main tanks were nearly dry when it crashed, scattering its occupants over a wet farm pasture near Atlanta, Mo.

Arrival of five aerodynamic inspectors of the department of commerce on the scene today gave promise of a thorough investigation into several phases of the accident. The federal investigation was being directed by James Kenney, airline inspector of the Pacific coast division. He was assisted by Inspectors Phil Salzman and Russell Delany of Kansas City and Inspectors Byron Jacobs and Bruce Braun of Chicago.

Two of the injured, Paul Wing of Hollywood, father of Toby Wing, the motion picture actress, and C. G. Drew, technical executive for Paramount studios, were in critical condition at Samaritan hospital physicians reported.

A friend of his already has the claim staked out. After a deep-sea silence of two months, Commerce Secretary Roper has announced that the scheme for promoting sale of fish is under way.

Because Congressman Charles Faddis, Pennsylvania, wrote a constituent that he would "give the Townsend Bill my careful consideration," and subsequently took no favorable action, he was reproached as a traitor by the Townsendite, who wrote: "It will be hard sledding for Hon. Charles Faddis, Congressman, next election."

Surveying the "Planetary Indications for 1935" a professional astrologer of Minneapolis has opined that "Saturn being in an inhibitive angle to Uranus in the U. S. chart, will certainly place many obstacles in the way of general progress." And of the President, he shows an "inability and unwillingness to adequately cope with the situation with Uranian vision and simplicity."

PRESIDENT IS NOT SHOCKED BY RULING

WASHINGTON, May 7.—President Roosevelt was not greatly surprised at the Supreme court's adverse decision on the railroad pension case, it was stated at the White House today.

Mr. Roosevelt, in signing the bill last summer, said it was "crudely drawn."

He was surprised, however, at the vigorous language used in the majority decision against the plan, and the implication contained therein that congress has no right to establish compulsory pensions.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Ruby Keeler, wife of Al Jolson, film and stage star, today filed papers in county court for permission to adopt a baby, boy at the Evanston cradle. The baby Miss Keeler selected is six weeks old.

Rising waters of the Ottawa river at Lima threatened the city sewage disposal plant and officials planned to close the plant until flood waters subsided.

COLUMBUS, May 7.—Good health will reach a new high in Ohio this year, Dr. W. H. Hartung, state director of health, predicted today as a result of the heavy spring rainfall.

While rain in itself is not necessarily an enemy of ill health, Dr. Hartung explained today this month's abundant precipitation will destroy millions of disease germs.

Epidemics of colds and sore throats present the sole threat as a result of the damp weather.

Breeders Eliminated
"Dust particles that carry the bulk of disease germs will be forced down out of the air into the ground by the heavy rains," Dr. Hartung pointed out. "The breeding places of insects, in stagnant waters, will be eliminated as streams clean out the backwater pools."

"We can expect, I believe, a healthier state during the summer and fall as a direct result of the rainfall," he predicted.
The precipitation during the first six days of May has totaled 2.78 inches, more than the entire rainfall during April, 1.88 inches. The total for 1935 is 10.36 inches while the average annual rainfall in Ohio is 36.24 inches, weather bureau officials reported.

With promises of additional rains indicating this year will be no repetition of other drought-seared seasons, officials of the state health conditions during the first year of Dr. Hartung's administration.

COLUMBUS, May 7.—Indications were today that Columbus' 13,500 school teachers will not be paid until July or August because of depleted funds.

Abram Gordon, E. M. und-st, a senior in the chemical engineering college at Ohio State university, Columbus, returned Saturday night from a week's inspection tour of manufacturing plants in the East with a group of engineering students from the university.

INCOME TAXES

duty" by returning to business without further delay and appealing to the governor to order the Senate back to work was introduced by Debel.

It was Debel's vote for Rep. J. Freer Bittinger (D) Ashland, that defeated the Republican nominee for speaker of the house at the beginning of the session, and the phraseology of his resolution reprimanding the Senate opened old wounds among his fellow House Republicans.

Some of them talked of voting against it because the resolution referred to the House, at its organization meeting, refusing to "achieve the dictation of outside selfish interests." But even if adopted overwhelmingly, it merely expresses the sentiment of the lower house which cannot enforce its edicts on the other branch.

Attack Negligible
Realizing the virtual impossibility of an income tax getting through the Senate at this late date, its opponents in the House did not rise to their former heights in attacking it.

answer.

But if Black had known it, he was looking—as he spoke—directly at the Negro to whom he referred. He is Walter White, head of the N. A. A. C. P., and the real author of the Costigan-Wagner Lynching Bill. He sat in the Senate gallery listening to Black.

White conceived the bill two years ago, sold the idea to Costigan and Wagner. Later he sold it to Mrs. Roosevelt and through her to the President.

All during the anti-lynching filibuster, White camped in Washington, had frequent conferences with Mrs. Roosevelt, caused thousands of telegrams to be sent to Senators from all over the country, played an important part in directing the fight from the side-lines.

White is considered the most fearless leader of his race.

WOMAN FIFTH PLANE VICTIM

Mrs. Kaplan, Wife of Paramount Executive, Dies;
Two Others Serious

MACON, Mo., May 7—Mrs. William Kaplan, wife of a Hollywood motion picture executive, today became the fifth fatality in the crash of a night flying TWA air liner that snuffed out the life of United States Senator Bronson
Cutting of New Mexico in a fog-shrouded farm pasture.

Eight other survivors, two in critical condition, were suffering from injuries today as a coroner's jury, aided by federal inspectors, called its second hearing in the investigation, which thus far had produced testimony showing the plane had nearly exhausted its gasoline supply when the crash occurred.

Mrs. Kaplan, her back fractured, succumbed here early today in a hospital where she was brought with other victims of the crash.
She and Kaplan, assistant producer for Paramount studios, were members of a party of film technicians enroute to Annapolis, Md., to film sequences at the naval academy.

Although an auxiliary tank still held 30 gallons of gasoline, witnesses told the coroner's jury last night, the fog-enveloped Douglas liner's main tanks were nearly dry when it crashed, scattering its occupants over a wet farm pasture near Atlanta, Mo.

Arrival of five aeronaucic inspectors on the scene today gave promise of a thorough investigation into several phases of the accident. The federal investigation was being directed by James Kenney, airline inspector of the Pacific coast division. He was assisted by Inspectors Phil Salzman and Russell Delany of Kansas City and Inspectors Byron Jacobs and Bruce Braun of Chicago.

Two of the injured, Paul Wing of Hollywood, father of Toby Wing, the motion picture actress, and C.
G. Drew, technical executive for Paramount studios, were in critical condition at Samaritan hospital physicians reported.

A friend of his already has the claim staked out. After a deepsea silence of two months, Commerce Secretary Roper has announced that the scheme for promoting sale of fish is under way.

Because Congressman Charles Faddis, Pennsylvania, wrote a constituent that he would "give the Townsend Bill my careful consideration," and subsequently took no favorable action, he was reproached as a traitor by the Townsendite, who wrote: "It will be hard sledding for Hon. Charles Faddis, Congressman, next election." Surveying the "Planetary Indications for 1935" a professional astrologer of Minneapolis has opined that "Saturn being in an inhibitive angle to Uranus in the U. S. chart, will certainly place many obstacles in the way of general progress." And of the President, he shows an inability and unwillingness to adequately cope with the situation with Uranian vision and simplicity."

PRESIDENT IS NOT SHOCKED BY RULING

WASHINGTON, May 7—
President Roosevelt was not greatly surprised at the Supreme court's adverse decision on the railroad pension case, it was stated at the White House today.

Mr. Roosevelt, in signing the bill last summer, said it was "crudely drawn."

He was surprised, however, at the vigorous language used in the majority decision against the plan, and the implication contained therein that congress has no right to establish compulsory pensions.

Keeler, wife of Al Jolson, film

COLUMBUS, May 7—Good health will reach a new high in Ohio this year, Dr. W. H. Hartung, state director of health, predicted today as a result of the heavy spring rainfall.

While rain in itself is not necessarily an enemy of ill health, Dr.
Hartung explained today this month's abundant precipitation will destroy millions of disease germs.

Epidemics of colds and sore throats present the sole threat as a result of the damp weather.

Breeders Eliminated

"Dust particles that carry the bulk of disease germs will be forced down out of the air into the ground by the heavy rains," Dr. Hartung pointed out. "The breeding places of insects, in stagnant waters, will be eliminated as streams clean out the backwater pools."

"We can expect, I believe, a healthier state during the summer and fall as a direct result of the rainfall," he predicted.

The precipitation during the first six days of May has totaled 2.78 inches, more than the entire rainfall during April, 1.88 inches.
The total for 1935 is 10.36 inches.
While the average annual rainfall in Ohio is 36.34 inches, weather bureau officials reported.

With promises of additional rains indicating this year will be no repetition of other drouthseared seasons, officials of the state health conditions during the first year of Dr. Hartung's administration.

COLUMBUS, May 7—Indications were today that Columbus' 3,500 school teachers will not be paid until July or August because of depleted funds.

Abram Gordon, E. M. -und-st, a senior in the chemical engineering college at Ohio State university, Columbus, returned Saturday night from a week's inspection tour of manufacturing plants in the East with a group of engineering students from the university.

duty" by returning to business without further delay and appealing to the governor to order the Senate back to work was introduced by Deibel.

It was Deibel's vote for Rep.
J. Freer Bittinger (D) Ashland, that defeated the Republican nominee for speaker of the house at the beginning of the session, and the phraseology of his resolution reprimanding the Senate opened old wounds among his fellow House Republicans.

Some of them talked of voting against it because the resolution referred to the House, at its organization meeting, refusing to "adhere to the dictation of outside selfish interests." But even if adopted overwhelmingly, it merely expresses the sentiment of the lower house which cannot enforce its edicts on the other branch.

Attack Negligible

Realizing the virtual impossibility of an income tax getting through the Senate at this late date, its opponents in the House did not rise to their former heights in attacking it.
